Indiana National Guard Base Awards Contract to Intellicheck Mobilisa

Port Townsend, WA – October 4, 2010: Intellicheck Mobilisa, Inc. (NYSE AMEX: IDN), a global leader in access control and wireless security systems, received a contract from the US Army National Guard at Camp Atterbury to provide them with the Fugitive Finder access control equipment. The value of the contract is approximately $250,000 for equipment, software, installation, training and warranties. This is the first full deployment of the company's latest addition to the Defense ID system, Fugitive Finder.

Utilizing Intellicheck Mobilisa's patented ID reading technology, Defense ID quickly scans various forms of IDs, such as Drivers Licenses, Military ID's or Passports, and instantly compares the data to over 100 "bad guy" lists.

Camp Atterbury is located near Edinburgh, Indiana, and is the training home for the Indiana National Guard. The Camp Atterbury Joint Maneuver Training Center serves thousands of reserve and regular forces who receive training prior to deployment to Iraq and Afghanistan. Camp Atterbury is one of only two National Guard bases serving this vital training mission.

"Camp Atterbury has the distinction of being one of only two National Guard bases charged with training our troops prior to deployment overseas," said Dr. Nelson Ludlow, CEO of Intellicheck Mobilisa. "They are clearly an important asset to our nation's military forces, providing key training to our troops. They recognized the importance of using our Defense ID system to help secure their facility, and we are pleased to be working with them."
