Intellicheck Mobilisa Announces Strategic Partnership with Workspeed to Deliver Enhanced Visitor Security Solution for Commercial Real Estate Industry

Port Townsend, Washington – May 4, 2011: Intellicheck Mobilisa, Inc. (NYSE Amex: IDN) a leader in ID Verification and Wireless Technology, today announced a strategic partnership with Workspeed, the leading provider of real estate management applications, to deliver the industry's most advanced visitor security solution.

The two companies have worked in conjunction to integrate Intellicheck Mobilisa's patented-ID reading technology with Workspeed's building access control product. Through this integration, Workspeed Visitor Management customers will now benefit from increased security and flexibility by allowing visitors to swipe a driver's license for building access. While the security guard on duty will continue to perform a visual check of the visitor's ID, the electronic swipe will also verify that the ID is authentic, and produce a date and time-stamped visitor log.

"Workspeed is the leader in building management and security systems, with a wide-range of products offered to over 2,000 buildings they manage throughout the US," stated Steve Williams, CEO of Intellicheck Mobilisa. "This partnership will afford Workspeed with increased security and improved ease of use, while providing us with increased revenue from a market we have not previously entered. This is a great opportunity for both our companies and we look forward to growing this partnership."

"This alliance provides customers with a unique opportunity to continue to increase efficiencies and security in one comprehensive offering," said Derrick Chen, Workspeed CEO. "Intellicheck Mobilisa's renowned reputation and cutting-edge technology offerings were a perfect fit for this important partnership."
